

The Port Arthur News

VOL. XXII, NO. 211.

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1923.

Freckle Clubbers, Here's Something Nice for

FRECKLED BOYS AND GIRLS, the contest has got the Freckles Editor up a tree. The old woman who lived in a shoe and had so many children she didn't know what to do, didn't know what an easy job she had.

When the Freckle Contest was announced, the Freckles Editor said that it would close at 5 o'clock sharp on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 1.

That's today. And the Freckles Editor, freed and driven in to a corner, is going to beg for a little more time.

Honestly, he never saw so many freckles in his life. Freckles waking, freckles sleeping, freckles in the coffee and freckles on the "ham and." The air is full of freckles and the Freckles Editor has begun accumulating a batch of them himself.

NOW, THIS DELAY will have its advantages. Officially, the contest is closed with the names of those enrolling since yesterday. So that makes it a fair and square deal.

There's something nice ahead for the freckled fraternity.

The News is going to increase that first prize of $5 to $10 in gold and add a third prize.

This makes the first prize $10 in gold; the second prize $5 in gold; and third prize, three silver dollars as spunk and now as ever come out of the mint.

When the contest started the Freckle Editor, not knowing what he was up against, figured along this line: "Well, this isn't going to be such a hard job, to name the winners. Whoever has the most freckles will get the money and that will be all there is to it."

BUT THAT ISN'T ALL there is to it. Judging those freckles is going to be harder than managing a third political party, and the Freckles Editor hung up a "help" sign.

There'll be a board of judges comprising three to name the winners. The News believes that will be a squarer deal, because then no one will say that one person chose the winners. Don't you think that's a good idea?

On top of the bigger prizes, all you freckled boys and girls will be treated to a free show at the Strand Theatre Wednesday evening, August 8. That's just a week from today. At the 8 o'clock intermission the judges will award the prizes and the winners will get the money.

"EVERY boy and girl of 15 years or under, whether they are in the contest or not, will be admitted free of charge to the show that day evening, August 8." That's the way Carl Erickson of the Strand Theatre management said this morning. "It's their chance that will be their ticket to the show. They're going to see that the freckled boys and girls have a good time and they're giving a special section all to themselves."

There's going to be a night show, too, ahead, too, the management says.

During the show the freckled boys and girls will be seated on the stage where all their freckles will be seen and then the judges will decide the winners.

SEVERSON SCANDAL IN WISCONSIN

Severson Charge Is Bomb in Official Circles

OLD RUMORS REVIVED

Legislature Had Refused to Probe 'Gay Parties'

WAUPACA, Wis., August 1.

—State Senator H. J. Severson today declared he possessed facts, evidence and witnesses to back up charges that state officials had locked women in offices at the state capitol and attacked them.

Severson said he would present the "facts" to Governor Blaine who demanded in a telegram that the senate prove the charges so the "guilty" officials might be removed from office and criminally prosecuted.

Governor Asks Proof

Severson first made the charges in a speech before the La Follette club, Governor Blaine at Madison, wired him "demanding" the proof.

Although Severson has not yet received the telegram he said he would comply with it.

"I will prove to the people of this state that these statements are founded on facts," he said.

Legislature Refuses Probe

During the last session of the state legislature, charges were made in the state house of "liquor bouts" between legislators and lobbyists and rumors of "gay parties" were whispered about.

The legislature refused to vote an investigation of the drinking charges.

The students in company with members of the Civitans, will leave Port Arthur from the college main building at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The resignation of Harry H. Silber as secretary and chairman of the entertainment committee of the club was submitted during the luncheon. No successor was appointed due to the absence of both the president and vice president, out of the city on summer vacations.

Mr. Silber will leave Port Arthur within a short time, he said following the luncheon, taking an extensive tour of the west prior to taking up other duties calling him from this city.

Law Decrees Widow Too Young to Wed

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 1.

—Wedded at 15, mother of an 18-months old son, divorced and yet, according to Ohio laws, too young to marry again.

That is the position in which Mrs. Bertha Seal Sayre found herself today when she applied for a license.

In 1920 Mrs. Seal, then 18, married Clarence Sayre and last year they were divorced.

The Sayres recently fell in love again, however, and decided to marry.

But the clerk at the courthouse invoked Ohio's new law which says women younger than 21 must have their parents' consent before they can wed. Bertha argued that if she was old enough to marry three years ago she is old enough to marry now.

"Times have changed," said the clerk.

The physicians' official announcement showed temperature practically normal, pulse still accelerated but gradually getting back towards normal and considerable improvement in breathing.

The president had fruit juice, egg and milk toast for breakfast and displayed fairly good appetite. The morning newspapers were read to him briefly.

All indications were, the doctors said unofficially, that it would be ten days to two weeks before the president can be moved with safety.

Johnson Forces Claim Trickery Accuse Hoover

Pershing Mitts Murff Bledsoe, Arthur LeCoq

A personal word of congratulations and a handclasp from General Pershing was the send off given two Port Arthur boys, Mitts Bledsoe, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Bledsoe, and Arthur LeCoq, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. LeCoq, as they set out for a citizens' military training camp Friday night.

"It was the thrill of our lives when General Pershing shook hands with us and wished us well in our military training when we found ourselves on the same train with him Friday night," one of the boys wrote back to relatives in Port Arthur.

LeCoq will return to Port Arthur to resume his work as athletic instructor at Franklin school when the 1923-24 season opens in September, and young Bledsoe is preparing to enter the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college this fall. They will spend a month in an army training camp at San Antonio, Texas.

Release of Harding's Speech From Sickbed Provokes a Storm of Reproach to Advisors, Political Ethics Are Questioned

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.

—Senator Hiram Johnson's friends were furiously indignant today over what they declared was a deliberate political "trick" played on Johnson and on them by members of President Harding's official party.

Publication in this morning's newspapers of the foreign relations speech President Harding would have delivered here last night had he been well, was the cause of all the trouble, which may grow into a major political incident.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is the principal target of the angry Johnsonites. They blame Hoover for getting the speech released for publication as a means of playing upon public sympathy for the stricken president to turn California against Johnson on the world court issue. If Hoover personally is not responsible, then some pro-Hoover and anti-Johnson member of the official party is to blame, the Johnsonites force think.

Charge Unethical Procedure

The fact that the speech was released by express direction of President Harding himself does not, in any way mitigate or alter the case, Johnson's friends declare. They say Mr. Harding was too ill to understand the situation and the consequences of his action when he decided the controversy among members of his official family about the propriety of releasing the speech as a statement to the press. The president, Johnson's friends say, was imposed upon.

The controversy grew out of the fact that some of Mr. Harding's advisers foresaw exactly the situation which has arisen. They had real the speech. They knew it would evoke criticism from Johnson and those who agree with him in opposing American participation in the world court. That criticism would have been expressed with utmost freedom had Mr. Harding been well. But no one with good taste can engage in a controversy with a man who is barely out of the shadow of death.

Some of the president's advisers, understanding the Hoover-Johnson antagonisms in California and desiring to avoid anything like a repetition of the Hughes-Johnson mixup, argued that the speech should be given up. But the other view, which was that the public was entitled to the president's report of foreign relations, prevailed with him. Because of the president's illness, comment on his statement will be somewhat restrained.

care, was in brief an argument in favor of American adhesion to the world court, entered upon this point:

The administration in two years' activities in foreign affairs, has dealt with a great variety of problems affecting American peace, financial and other interests abroad, and has contributed greatly towards world peace and stability, without a single instance of getting the United States into an entanglement with old world politics. This two year record should therefore be accepted as evidence of the good faith of the administration in declaring that the American entrance into the world court will not prove an entangling alliance.

The president summed it up in this way:

"Our hopeful aspiration is to contribute whatever we can toward the elimination of the causes of war. My recital of two years' work in furthering our friendly foreign relations, has had for its purposes the emphasis of that inspiration and the fruits of practical application."

Mr. Harding further said:

"That he would not fight the senate for ratification of the court without reservation."

That he was proud of his administration's foreign relations record and of the services of a great secretary of state.

That the Washington arms conference was the great outstanding achievement.

That the conference was not only a step towards world peace generally, but that it had specifically removed apprehension of war from the Pacific area.

That he had not recognized Russia and would not do so because to do so would be to perpetuate the ill of Russia and encourage a menace to American institutions.

That he hoped for success of the Mexican parties but that Mexico must give assurance against confiscation.

That he was gratified that the United States had been able to aid in establishing more firmly the peace of the western hemisphere by assisting in settling central and southern American questions.

That American intervention in Haiti and San Domingo had been of great value to those countries and that American troops would soon be entirely withdrawn from both.

EXPERT SWIMMER'S REWARD IS HIS ABILITY TO DO FANCY DIVES; THE SWAN AND JACK-KNIFE

BY LYBA M. SHEFFIELD

Director of Swimming, University of California Summer Session, and Co-Author of "Swimming Simplified"

FINAL ARTICLE—SWAN AND JACK-KNIFE DIVES

The Correct swan dive. Miss Sheffield caught in mid-air as she makes the descent of a swan dive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—

Warning: Do not attempt fancy diving too soon in your career as a swimmer.

Before you are ready for the elementary fancy dives you should be complete master of at least one swimming stroke, of floating and of the elementary dives I explained in the fourth article of this series. Otherwise your attempts may end in disaster.

All fancy dives are based on three elementary fancy dives, the swan, the front jack-knife and the back jack-knife.

The first of these, the swan, is one of the prettiest and most graceful, and also one of the easiest to learn.

It can be done either from a springboard or from a platform. If from a board, be sure that it is at least three feet above the surface of the water.

For starting position, stand erect, arms at the sides of the body and with toes gripping the edge of the board or platform.

Next, take a deep inhalation and hold it.

Now dive by springing upward and out, swinging the arms forward and up as you do so, finishing with them extended one toward each side. Hold this position until you reach the top of the curve you are making in the air.

As you start to descend the proper descent, of course, is that former explained, head first so that you will enter the water at an angle of 45 degrees—bring the arms up over the head and assume the proper diving position with them. Then you enter the water with the head down, arms extended and "covering" the ears, thumbs locked.

The starting position for the front jack-knife is the same as that for the swan.

In this dive, you jump with the body erect, obtaining the maximum amount of height.

When you reach the highest point, quickly bend the body forward at the waist, touching the ankles, with the legs straight and the toes pointed.

Hold this position for a moment, then straighten the body and enter the water in the correct manner described in the article on elementary diving.

The starting position for the back jack-knife is body erect, but toward the back, with the arms extended in front of the head, arms extended in front of you about shoulder-width apart.

SAYS MAN CAN'T BE SAVED ALONE

Evangelist Stresses Need for Penitence

Atonement for all humanity by the blood of Jesus Christ shed upon Calvary's cross, and salvation for all men repenting of their sins and accepting the Christ, formed the theme of the sermon delivered Tuesday night by Rev. K. C. Minter, of Silsbee, conducting a series of evangelistic services at the First M. E. church, south, Fifth street and Nashville avenue.

Taking as his text the tenth verse of the second chapter of Colossians, "We are complete in Him (Christ)," Rev. Minter spoke in part as follows:

"Are your sins as high as the highest mountains? His atonement is as high as the heavens. Were your sins as deep as the bottomless seas, God's word gives us the guarantee that Christ's sacrifice reaches into eternity."

"In order that man may be prepared for Heaven, he must be holy, complete, perfected in every part. Nothing defiled can enter the presence of God. We have all sinned and come short of the Kingdom of God. We have, each of us, at some period in our lives, sinned against the commandments of God, and alone are incapable of ever realizing eternal salvation."

"What must I possess, then, in order to be saved? God's blood, without which no man shall see the Lord. Absolute perfection is required. Not the absolute perfection of man within himself, for none have lived absolutely perfectly, and entire life is to be judged."

"How shall we pay this debt? Shall we pile up the most precious gems of earth, until they mount up to the skies? They will not avail. The mortal sins, 'I'll offer good works.' But what about the sins of the past? You cannot bring today's sins at all possibly to do so, and keep the law perfectly and hope to satisfy the demands of justice."

"Jesus Christ alone was fitted to make the atonement. He was born of woman, with his perfected humanity born under the law, the same law we are now under and He kept the law in its entirety, not merely in the letter, but as an overflowing fountain for 'He was tempted in every point, like as we are, yet without sin.'"

When John the Baptist came preaching in the wilderness, he cried, 'Behold, the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. When the angel announced His coming to Mary, his mother, it was said, 'We shall call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people of their sins.'"

"Jesus lived a perfect life. He fulfilled the law, then went to the cross in your place and bled for you. His merit 'Repent and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ,' and 'Ye are complete in Him.'"

"If you refuse to repent, to come in penitence to God's saving pardon because of the merits of the atonement of Jesus Christ, you must bear your own guilt and pay the penalty for your sins."

Epileptic Prisoner Is Found Fitless Mimic On Exam at Hospital

There are fits and fits. Some are and some are not. Question: How can you tell?

One of the white men working out a fine on the streets, sprawled out on the canal bank about 11 o'clock this morning, closed his eyes, gritted his teeth, gurgled down in his throat and fellow prisoners declared he was throwing a fit.

Passers-by were halted by one of the prisoners, and asked if they had a doctor in the crowd. None was present, but investigation started and the white man was found lying prone in the hot sun, breathing deeply, no sign of life apparent excepting the twitching fingers and heaving bosom.

All around him the prisoners were sitting on their heels, chopping weeds and grass, and the officer in charge said the man "threw fits" when he got mad."

Anyway the outlook for the fellow was apparently dark, according to one of the men who investigated, and he summoned a Granular ambulance.

Without batting an eyelash, the "victim" allowed himself to be lifted in the ambulance and rushed to Mary Gates hospital for medical attention.

In the emergency room a physician made a minute examination of the prisoner, applied a stethoscope to his chest, ammonia to his lips, rolled back his eyelids, and pronounced him sound and without a trace of anything but hysteresis.

SCIENCE ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The triumph of scientific pharmacy is a "disinfectant" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the fastest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no greasy, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Genuine Calotabs are sold only in trade-marked packages, price ten cents and thirty-two cents. Your druggist offers to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs—only.

TO ASK GERMANY TO JOIN LEAGUE
Allies Reply to British Reparations Note
LONDON, Aug. 1.—Allied replies to Britain's reparation note were laid before the cabinet today by Marquis Curzon. Their contents are to remain an official secret.
It is understood, however, as a result of a suggestion by Lord Curzon that Britain's note to Germany may include an invitation to join the League of Nations.

Germany is understood to be quite willing to enter the league.
Replies of France and Belgium were delivered formally in writing, while that of Italy was conveyed in a later conversation between Lord Curzon and the Italian ambassador. A reply from Japan also is expected.
In many quarters it is believed further interchange of notes will result from the cabinet's consideration of the French and Belgian suggestions.
Although it was reported that the French note permits of exchange of views, it is understood the British impression of it is decidedly pessimistic.
It has been definitely decided that Curzon shall reveal the government's official attitude in the house on Wednesday.

TO ASK GERMANY TO JOIN LEAGUE
Allies Reply to British Reparations Note
LONDON, Aug. 1.—Allied replies to Britain's reparation note were laid before the cabinet today by Marquis Curzon. Their contents are to remain an official secret.

It is understood, however, as a result of a suggestion by Lord Curzon that Britain's note to Germany may include an invitation to join the League of Nations.

Germany is understood to be quite willing to enter the league.

Replies of France and Belgium were delivered formally in writing, while that of Italy was conveyed in a later conversation between Lord Curzon and the Italian ambassador. A reply from Japan also is expected.

In many quarters it is believed further interchange of notes will result from the cabinet's consideration of the French and Belgian suggestions.

Although it was reported that the French note permits of exchange of views, it is understood the British impression of it is decidedly pessimistic.

It has been definitely decided that Curzon shall reveal the government's official attitude in the house on Wednesday.

RILEY'S LUCK

Riley was a lousy fellow
Never worked a bit;
All day long in some store corner
On a chair he'd sit.

Never talked much—too much trouble;
Tired his jaws, you see;
When his folks got out of victuals,
"Just my luck!" says he.

Fellow offered him ten dollars
If he'd work two days;
Riley crossed his legs and looked up
Through the sun's hot rays;
Then he leaned back in the shadow,
Saidly shook his head;
"Never asked me till hot weather—
Just my luck!" he said.

Riley courted Sally Hopkins
In a quiet way;
When he saw Jim Dobson kiss her,
"Just my luck!" he'd say.
Leap year came, and Mandy Perkins
Sought his company;
Riley sighed, and married Mandy—
"Just my luck!" he said.

Riley took his wife out fishing
In a little boat;
Storm blew up and turned them over;
Mandy couldn't float.
Riley sprang into the river,
Seized her by the hair,
Swam a mile into the shore where
Friends pulled out the pair.

Mandy was so full of water
Seemed she'd surely die;
Doctors worked with her for hours
Ere she moved an eye.
They told Riley she was better;
Doctors were in glee
Riley chewed an old pine splinter—
"Just my luck!" says he.

YOU AND I

WIGS

Bruno Leo Schuritz, hairdresser, who claims he selects the toupees for the elder John L. Rockefeller, returns from Europe with news: So many wig makers were killed in Germany and France, during the war, that wig making has become a highly exclusive profession.

Judging from the amount of time devoted to care of the hair, especially by women, this is important news. Hair is the most stubborn survivor of the vanity inherited from long generations of savage ancestors. If we were truly sanitary, and less vain, we'd keep our heads clipped or shaved. The theory that bald-headedness is an indication of superior civilization probably was started by a bald-headed man who either had a sense of humor or was kidding himself.

CANDY

Most of us have a different notion, but prohibition has not caused any big boom in the candy business. So claims Edward C. Clark, president of National Confectioner Salesmen's association.

Clark, after wearing out an adding machine, finds that three-fifths of the candy eaten by Americans is consumed by children, as penny purses.

The big national increase in sugar consumption has been due to cellar wine making, not candy.

WHEAT

A world grain export figures there are 50 million more bushels of wheat available in the leading countries this year than in 1922. Since the world is not apt to eat that much more wheat, it is rather obvious that the slump in wheat prices has been partly due to this surplus.

Overproduction is the farmer's chief problem.

Do you really realize how gigantic our country is? In the United States are 52,000 communities large enough to have postoffices. The marvel is that the postmen make as few mistakes as they do.

It is almost beyond imagination, to picture 52,000 communities. And, in each, the majority of the inhabitants probably think that there is the best community in the world.

We are a great deal like the ants, though not as prolific. Also, it is deplorable which of the two, ants or men, have the superior civilization.

BUILDING

In the last six months 1610 million dollars worth of new building construction was started in the 153 leading cities. It was a gain of nearly a third, compared with the first half of last year, but when you make allowances for increased building costs it is doubtful whether there has been more actual building than a year ago.

The average American seems to prefer to own his own auto instead of his own home. May be more sensible at that.

DUPLICATED

Where is Cleveland? Twenty-five years ago each have a city bearing this name. There are 22 Buffalos, 14 Denvers, 7 Depots, 6 Philadelphia's and 10 Chicagos. Also 17 Berlins, 12 Mores and 20 Iowas named Paris. The following will be sure to write to you as well as the city or town.

KANSAS.

Kansas has had four democratic governors in sixty years. Two of the four are in the land of the living. Jonathan Davis is the incumbent of the office and George W. Hodge is an ex. Hodge is a very noted prohibition advocate, a very zealous friend of William Jennings Bryan and a very loud shouter for relief for the farmer.

Kansas instructed for William G. McAdoo in 1920. Col. Samuel B. Amidon led McAdoo's fight. He is leading McAdoo's fight this year—that he will lead it on his return from Europe where he has gone to make a study of economic conditions. Governor Davis and former Governor Hodge have declared for the flivver man as their choice for the democratic presidential nomination.

This will make it interesting all around in the Sunflower state where seventy-cent wheat has made rebels of the republican farmers and the old deflation program of the federal reserve board is held responsible for the seventy-cent wheat.

William G. McAdoo lit in the city of Topeka the other day. Davis and Hodge welcomed him as he alighted from the train. McAdoo is all smiles. He is as suave as that Richelieu of France was suave and smiling even in the face of danger. He refused to say today that he would be a candidate but he did say that if he decided to be a candidate he might visit Kansas and take the delegation away from the governor and the ex-governor.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas made the farmers believe that the grain gamblers were responsible for cheap wheat and he had a law enacted which put the grain gamblers out of business, that is Capper said it put them out of business. Then came the slump of wheat from $1.25 to 98 cents in the Chicago grain pit and now Capper is a discredited political prophet.

Kansas in days of old surrendered to the populist. There is no telling what Kansas will do next year unless wheat gets back to its war or near war prices. If this happens the republican farmers will vote the republican ticket. If it doesn't happen, and there are no signs that it will happen, then the republican farmers may run amuck.

BEAUTY OR BRAINS.

A beauty doctor in Atlantic City spoiled the beauty of the face of a patient. A sympathetic jury awarded the victim $25,000 damages. Beauty appears to have a far greater intrinsic value than brains. This plaintiff set up the plea that she had been disfigured for life and after a close up view the jurors admitted that if nature had not done the work then the beauty doctor was the guilty party and returned a verdict in accordance with the face and the facts. There are women who seek beauty doctors every day who could not be made beautiful if born again and then tossed into the mythical spring known as the Fountain of Youth. Magnus Johnson disfigured the beauty of the Hon. Jacob Preus. Politically speaking Preus is disfigured for life. Has he no redress?

SOME BUMPER.

Henry Ford is in the east buying antiques for the Wayside Inn, a recent acquisition and for his winter home at Fort Myers, Florida. The billionaire flivverman has a winter home but unlike William Jennings Bryan he is not going to become a citizen of the everglades state.

Born in New York state, Ford moved to Michigan in his youth and Michigan is to be his home until he dies. Ford is not complaining of business. He turned out a million cars in six months and made a net profit on each car of $55.

The Wall Street Journal says so and Henry is some man in Wall Street just now. He bumped Wall Street once or twice when the Street thought it had him in its clutches and ever since the note-shavers and the money lenders have been giving the Michigan billionaire a wide berth.

WATSON NOT WIZARD.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana can not see Henry Ford as a democratic presidential candidate and does not think that the democratic party will take up the Detroit billionaire. Watson who is a stand-pat republican of the vintage of the Mark Hanna age, is considerably perturbed. He says wheat and pork may decide the next presidential election and lead to the overthrow of the republican party.

Watson always has the ear of the president. Watson was one of the men who engineered the nomination of the president. Watson does not believe that there will be a party split over the World Court question and predicts that the next senate will take no action on it.

In other words another Harding proposal is to be sent to the morgue by the republican senatorial leaders. These politicians are queer players.

The world court is an adjunct of the league of nations and operates within the big wheel. Harding has said that the league of nations is as dead as a dead herring. Then why resurrect a part of its defunct machinery?

ASK THE FARMER.

Frank A. Vanderlip asserts that the United States should continue prosperous even without heavy buying of her products by Europe. Very optimistic of the future, he concedes that labor is more efficient than ever; in most industries is giving a greater day's work; wages are high and undoubtedly will remain high; America has a hundred per cent purchasing power and production is going ahead at a high rate.

Yes, but it is the farmer who is smashing things. He is in political revolt in the middle west and the northwest and the emissaries of the new movement are in the saddle from the Canadian line to the Mexican border.

They captured Oklahoma last year. They say they are going to capture Texas next year. Not if twenty-five cent cotton is the basis of business.

COTTON FORECAST.

Now the department of agriculture is guessing again. Its cotton crop forecast calls for $11,412,000 bales of cotton at the end of the picking season, based on the condition of the crop on June 25, which was 69.9 per cent of normal. This was before the boll weevil began its ravages, the thrip louse made its appearance or the pink boll worm began to perform. Regardless of these pests the Texas crop should reach 3,500,000 bales this year. There is a cotton shortage the world over and it would take a 13,000,000 bale American crop to supply the world demand.

There are approximately ten million illiterates in the United States and nearly as many near illiterates. This is the conclusion of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the United States illiteracy commission. In the hook worm districts or elsewhere?

CONTINUATION OF LETTER FROM MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON TO MR. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON.

Just when I reached the point in my letter where I told you I opened the door into the hall, this morning, I was called to consult again with Dr. Samson. He wanted to give me some directions about the baby's milk.

No, dear, I did not go to the Child's Home to get a baby for Leslie, for although you will hardly believe it, as I opened that door last night to go across the hall I found, lying in a softly lined basket, a beautiful baby boy.

I grasped! And rushing back, carried the child into Jack's room. "Look here, boy," I said, "Look what I have found just outside your door."

Jack seemed utterly surprised and asked the usual stupid question, "Why, who put it there?" "I don't know, Jack. Probably some woman has heard about Leslie's illness and how we were going to find a child for her and thought it would be a splendid place for her own baby. Poor woman! She probably could not care for it. Isn't he a beauty?"

I picked the baby out of the basket. It was evidently about six weeks old. Dressed in very nice, delicate hand made clothes. Its mother must have been a fine needlewoman.

It opened its eyes and looked at us, for Jack was bending over my shoulder with his face close to the baby's face, and I was looking at them both.

I became almost hysterical, for at that moment each of them—the man and the baby—twisted up the left side of his mouth and wrinkled his nose in a ridiculous manner. I had never noticed that Jack did that before, and when I saw it duplicated on the wee features of that baby it seemed something almost uncanny.

Jack put out his hand and touched the baby's mouth; then picked up one of its tiny hands, the fingers of which clasped around his like tendrils.

"My dear," I said, "it is Providence—nothing else."

"Do you think she'll like him?" asked Jack. "He seems pretty nice, don't you think? But why in thunder should any woman leave a baby at our door?" he inquired.

It seemed to me, however, perfectly simple, for of course the papers had been full of Leslie's illness, and how she was grieving for her baby.

We went at once for Dr. Samson, and he advised us immediately to get a woman who was trained in children's nursing; in fact, he offered to go to the hospital and send one that he thought was at liberty.

After this happened, of course, there was no sleep for either Jack or me. Jack hung over the basket in which we again placed the baby, for hours. He seemed to be afraid it would fly away, and once he declared that he knew it was not breathing. If the child had been his own he could not have been more solicitous. He seemed to feel that in some way fate had solved all his troubles and that Leslie would be as delighted as he the moment she saw the child.

He had the right intuition, Joe, for the moment the nurse which Dr. Samson sent us took the baby in to Leslie's room, upon her awakening, her face lighted up with a radiant smile.

"Bring him to me—bring him to me quickly," she said. "Where did you get him?"

We told her the entire truth, she interrupting with little gurgles of happiness as she held the child to her breast.

"Oh, I can keep him—Jack—can't

I keep him?" she asked. "Of course you can, my dear. You could keep him if he were twins, if it made you happy. You cannot know how I have agonized over you all these weeks."

"Have I been ill weeks, Jack?" she asked in surprise.

"Yes, dear, but it is all over now. Fate has brought you this baby and the baby has brought you back to me."

ASK 'EM

By BERTON BRALEY

When any one dishes up scandal Or whispers a tale in my ear, I listen perforce as a matter of course. It's stuff which one doubtless must hear;

But when my informant has finished The gossip he came to disclose, I quietly say in a casual way, "Who told you about it?"

And where did HE learn it? And how do you know that he knows?"

It's seldom the gossip can answer A question as simple as that. They gutter a word about "Some thing I heard"

Or "Well, it's just general chat." They hem and they haw and they stammer. They "guess" and they "think and suppose."

But, oh, they are wary indeed when you query. "Who told you about it?"

And where did SUE learn it? And how do you know that she knows?"

A scandal that's false and malicious Can stir up all manner of strife, And rumor unfounded has oftentimes bounded.

A man or a woman for life; Don't hurry to spread any gossip Regarding the high or the low; "They say." Who are "They?" By what right do they say it?

Who told 'em about it? And where did THEY learn it? And how do you know that they know?"

PALMER FOR SENATOR

AMARILLO, Aug. 1.—W. A. Palmer, attorney of Canada, and prominent in Texas highway and Chamber of Commerce work for a number of years is mentioned as a likely candidate for state senator from the new Thirty-first district created by the last legislature.

Palmer plans to move his residence here in the fall preparatory to starting his campaign.

Palmer was a delegate to the democratic convention at San Francisco in 1920 and is one of the leading men of his party in this section of the state.

HEARTS AFLAME

Frank Keenan, Veteran Actor seen in An Important Role

An advance notice says: As Luke Taylor, the millionaire lumber king in "Hearts Aflame," which opened today at the Peoples theater, Frank Keenan, veteran actor and screen favorite creates one of the greatest characters of his career on the screen. "Hearts Aflame" is a story of the lumber country of Michigan, with big thrills throughout it. Its climax comes in a forest fire which we believe to be the best ever yet presented on the screen. Also the use of natural colors in these scenes heightens the effect. There is also a charming romance in the picture.

Anna Q. Nilsson is attractive and appealing as the girl. There is considerable humor of an out-of-the-ordinary sort supplied by Russell Simpson as a lumberman and Martha Mattax as his wife, who have not spoken to each other for 20 years only through a third party.

Little Richard Headrick is appealing in a role of an orphan.

Canada Begg by Air

To Drop Cattle Tariff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Farmers of Canada are using the radio in an appeal to their American brothers across the line to save them and rescue themselves from operation of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill.

By organized effort, every owner of a radio outfit in the Canadian agricultural region is sending appeals to the owners of similar instruments on American farms to have the duty of 2 cents a pound on live cattle removed.

"It hurts you and is ruining us," is the appeal. "In the name of humanity and international good dealing, have it removed."

FOR HOME AND STABLE

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

CARDUI

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

THE NEWS' SOCIAL AND HOUSEHOLD PAGE

SUMMER BREEZES WHISPER
INTERESTING NEWS OF WHAT WILL BE WORN THIS FALL

PORT ARTHUR SHOPS are adding fall frocks of trimmed wool to the collection of summery things. Although one does not crave a wool frock for wear in August, women who dress well are anxious to see what sort of frocks the designers are sending out for fall.

Most of these have slim lines one clings to and which cling to one. Women are loath to relinquish a fashion which is both becoming and simple.

After a season when gay colors ran riot one will welcome the news that autumn will bring clothes of more subdued hues.

Browns, navy, dull blues and greens and wine shades will be among the most popular, enlivened with embroidery in vivid shades. All black frocks are good style for, of course, black as usual holds full sway for the early fall gown in crepe and crepe satins. Some lovely black models are displayed in the early fall showings.

A charming model of black georgette was noticed in a downtown shop. It was effectively trimmed with white baby Irish lace and with ribbon made of folds of the georgette. The hat shown with this charming gown was of field mouse velvet, with a sectional crown and topaz moire ribbon plaited into a fan ornament.

A smart little frock of navy tricot was also shown and was trimmed with loops of navy georgette ribbon. A lovely hat which could be worn with this gown had a top of fausse silk and a soft shirred brim of iridescent velvet, with a feather of cut silk.

Another frock was of coco flat crepe, with cerise cuffs lined in bisque crepe. The giraffe was headed and the narrow sash was faced in bisque. A pretty hat of French blue dorey, with satin crown draped in gold of silver with roses of the silver, was shown with the frock.

Necklines of most of the new fall models are varied, the "V" shape being good, as very rounded and modified bateau, as well as irregular cut lines, being probably the smartest. The surplus and the sole fastenings from neck to hemline are also in evidence. However, simplicity in design marks the dress as being smart.

And pleats and still more pleats are to be quite the vogue one hears. It is said that some of the frocks will be pleated right from the neck to the hemline. And pleats are to be found in the ruffles of a frock as well as in the skirt of a coat frock. In fact, everything that can be pleated, is pleated.

Fashion hasn't gotten away from the Oriental influence altogether, for elaborate headings are still being used. Chinese motifs are stressed in the new fall and winter garments, and the Oriental influence is prominent in the novelty fabrics. Linerie trimmings are prominent in bouffant and draped mode in formal numbers and the longer silhouette is greatly favored for jacketette and coatette types for fall.

Mushrooms—Cheap, But What a Price!
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—He wore a rusty coat with the grace of a marquis. He bowed from the waist when he addressed prospective customers. His price? But let him speak:

"For you, medium mushrooms at half the price of our competitors." While brother pushcart peddlers dubbed him handit and robber of shrimps, he sold his mushrooms along the East side. That was 11 a. m.

Three p. m.—Telephones rang in hospitals and in physicians' offices. "Come quick—we're dying," were the appeals.

Physicians found approximately 30 persons who had purchased mushrooms "at half price," suffering with ptomaine poisoning.

of scientific study. Experts analyzed and compared many kinds of clay, until they found one, mineral-laden, which brings the maximum results. They found ways to refine it, to remove the useless mud. Thus they produced a white, clean, dainty clay, a delightful thing to use.

Then they found factors to be added to bring multiplied results. In 20 years they thus produced the clay I use today.

I have now arranged so that all may get this clay. My White Youth Clay will emaze you, whatever clay you've used. No other clay I have ever seen can in any way compare.

My Baby Skin

Soft and rosy as 40 years ago. Due to a new-type clay BY EDNA WALLACE HOPPER

Almost any girl one-fourth my age might envy my complexion. Its color, its texture, its smoothness, and its bloom. Yet I have been a star in musical comedy for more than 30 years. Today I am famous the country over for the beauty I retain. I look like a girl of 19.

I owe this to my mother. She taught me to foster and preserve my beauty. Together we traveled half the world over to find the best ways known to do it. These beauty helps cost me years of searching and a fortune, but they made me what I am. Now, in sheer gratitude, I am aiding others to get them, and at modest cost. I hope in this way to bring to millions what they brought to me and mine.

White Youth Clay
I owe my complexion, above all, to a clay I found in France. Clay was then a novelty, used by famous beauties only. It was a clay that made them famous.

Now countless women are using clay. Clay has become a recognized essential to beauty at its best. Also to continued youth. The results are resplendent to women who care for their looks.

But many are using crude and muddy clays, such as I quit years ago. Thanks to science, I have today something ten times better.

THE FINEST PAIR OF SOX TO A BOXER IS A GOOD LEFT AND RIGHT

Citizens Clip Down Standing of Tommy Gardner's Islanders

Cook Hurls Speedy Style to Cop Game From Stronger Nine

Islanders, Locate Swatting Stride Early, Bunch Hits in Second Frame, and Take Lead Only To Drop Another Clash to Leachmen

THE Citizens pitched Cook against the Islanders again yesterday, and the whole crew shined to win a game, 5 to 2.

Cook dropped the Islanders with six scattered hits, and only permitted them to get bunched once during the melee; that was in the second frame, when the City hurler dished out a pair of doubles and a triple that gave the Islanders the initial score of the afternoon and put them in the lead for just one stanza.

The story by frames follows:

First Inning

Island: Gilchrist opened the fireworks and popped to Fulbright who threw him out at first. Conley drew an out at initial bag, Tappey to Perkins. Berryman retired the side with a strike out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

City: Trow drew a base on balls, and Perkins sacrificed him to second, Karnaky to Black. Wright went out at first, Berryman to Black. Leach ended the inning with a pop fly to Karnaky. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning

Island: Black went out at the first station, Tappey to Perkins. Townsend tripled and scored when Pete Karnaky doubled. Karnaky brought in the Islanders' second run when Stella doubled. Kaine and Johnson ended the misery for Cook with flies to Mack Leach, who fired the game yesterday with brilliant fielding. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

City: The Citizens were unable to return the scoring compliment when they batted. Fulbright went out at first, Kaine to Black. Tappey lined out at the initial station, Black unassisted. Cook singled and went to second on Dean's single. Riley, a new City player, struck out. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Third Inning

Island: Gilchrist went out at first, Cook to Perkins. Conley drew the second out to Mack Leach on a long high fly. Riley misjudged Berryman's smashing drive and muffed the ball, the Islander going safe at the error. Clark failed to score him, and was out at first, Fulbright to Perkins. No runs, no hits, no errors.

City: Trow whiffed the breezes twice. Perkins did likewise for the second out. Pete was getting a little wild, and Wright smacked one of his offerings for a single. He stole second while Leach was drawing down a base on balls. Fulbright singled and Wright scored. Tappey doubled, scoring Leach. Cook retired the side with an out at first. Berryman to Black. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning

Island: Townsend went out at first, Tappey to Perkins. Karnaky popped a slow grounder in front of first which Wright recovered, throwing the baserunner out to Perkins. Stella singled and stole second. Cook dished out a pass to Kaine, who was caught napping. Cook to Riley, when he started for second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

City: Dean struck out Riley flow out to Conley. Trow ended the period with a strikeout. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning

Island: Johnson doubled. Gilchrist struck out, Johnson was through out in a rundown. Dean to Tappey to Fulbright. Conley singled. Berryman struck out. No runs, two hits, no errors.

City: Kaine messed up Perkins' drive, the latter going safe at the first station. Wright struck out. Perkins was on his feet, and stole second when Leach came to bat. Leach drew an out on a foul to Townsend. Fulbright doubled, scoring Perkins. Tappey went safe when Gilchrist fumbled a ball at short. Cook singled, and Fulbright and Tappey scored on the deal. The game was decided on ice for the occasion. Dean retired the Citizens with a fly-out to Conley in the centerfield division. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Sixth Inning

Island: Black was safe when Riley overthrew the initial stop. Townsend singled. Karnaky went out at first. Perkins unassisted. Stella chopped the breezes. Kaine lined out to first. No runs, one hit, one error.

City: Stella took the mound, relieving Karnaky, who went to left. Riley drew an out at first, Stella to Black. Trow struck at three neat ones—but missed them all. So did Perkins. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The game was unusually devoid of errors and squabbling, and was featured by the pitching of Cook, the fielding of Leach, skipper for the City club, and the hitting of Townsend, Stella, Fulbright and Cook, each of whom drew down a pair of hits in three trips to the plate.

BEAUMONTERS STAND BY CLUB

Part of Ball Team Deficit Is Raised

The fate of the Beaumont Exporters still hangs in the balance today, with the goal of $10,000—which is the aggregate deficit the club must have immediately—still unachieved.

Yesterday, according to reports direct from the field, the members of the Beaumont Y.M.C.A. put forth every effort to raise the deficit; and they succeeded in part, for approximately three-fourths of the much-needed funds were pledged before they called a halt for the day.

The drive continues on today, however, and Beaumont still has a chance to show her colors in either retaining a berth in the Texas League, or dropping into oblivion as far as that organization is concerned.

She won't drop out. There are sufficient fans in Beaumont. Port Arthur, Lake Charles, Orange, Port Neches, Nederland and the surrounding towns of the League city to support any kind of a baseball club. There is no logical reason for Beaumont to withdraw from the running.

Franklin has just been taking a nap up there—a long nap, probably because, like other occasions, the team that has been recognized everywhere as a fighting contingent, has taken a slide downward and is ranking in the last division. But it's time for fandom to wake up now and contribute to the worthy cause of the king of sports.

IKE'S HOMERS END GAME

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Several years back, when he was flat broke, when he was out of a job and when an addition to the family necessitated some money, Harry Wills found a friend in need in "Old Paddy Mullins."

Without asking for collateral, Mullins advanced several loans to get him over the tight places and he told the big colored fighter who is now challenging Jack Dempsey that he could pay it back when he got it and he needn't be in a hurry to get it.

For that reason, Harry Wills is sticking to Paddy Mullins and insisting that Paddy get to the manager's out of the purse that he may get for fighting the champion.

Now the wolves of Broadway are tumbling over each other trying to steal Wills away from his friend and manager. They point out that Paddy is a man of the old school, who considers his word as good as a bond and considers the words of others as too easy and that if Wills had an aggressive manager he would have had a shot at the title before this and would have been better off by about a quarter of a million.

To all of whom Wills replied: "Paddy and I are going right along together. He suits me."

Wills has never told the story of why he is going to stick to Paddy and "Old Paddy" never talks, but a friend of the big colored stevedore says that Wills will never cut away from the man who put a hand out to him when he needed money more than he ever will again.

Wills is just as reticent as his manager. He feels he ought to be considered before Luis Firpo as the next opponent of Dempsey in a heavy weight championship fight, but instead of raising a fuss about it, he has assumed the position—if the commission says so, I'll have to wait.

It is being said that Wills hasn't been fighting enough; that he turned down an offer to fight George Godfrey on the milk fund card, that he has turned down $200,000 worth of other matches because he was afraid of losing a match with Dempsey.

"We haven't turned down an offer without a good reason," Wills said today. "I want to fight Dempsey because I think I can win the title. I am not out for money alone as I think everyone will agree. I'm ready for the fight if they'll let me fight."

"Right," Old Paddy concluded.

Puzzling Plays

THE PLAY

There is an interference play that came up in a game at Chicago. Many people left the park, believing the White Sox had won.

It was the last half of the ninth. The score was 3 to 1 in favor of the visitors.

The White Sox filled the bases with two men out. A snap throw from the visiting catcher caught the runner on third napping. Just when it seemed as if the base runner was about to be retired, ending the inning, the ball was seen to crawl off the back of the runner into left field.

Before the ball was back into play all three runners had scored. Many people thought the White Sox had won, 4 to 3, as that play ended the game. Instead of the ball bounding from the back of the player, as it seemed, its deflection was caused by the base runner throwing his arm directly in the path of the ball.

What about it?

THE INTERPRETATION

When the runner, who had been caught off third, threw up his arm, deflecting the throw into left field, he committed an interference. For so doing he was called out, retiring the side.

Although three runners apparently crossed the plate on the play, none of the runs was legal, and the game ended 3 to 1 in favor of the visiting team.

CITY PROTESTS GULF VICTORY

Petition to League Claims Rules Broken

The postponed game played between the Citizens and the Gulf, Monday afternoon on Lakeside Diamond will be settled definitely by the officials of the City Baseball League.

This fact was made evident yesterday afternoon when M. C. Leach, manager of the City contingent, filed formal protest with Ball Archer, secretary of the League, against the Gulf's win on the grounds that the Gulf club played certain men in violation of the rules.

The protest claims that during the fifth inning of the game, that Perkins, first baseman of the City club, was called out at the initial bag by the umpire when Dan Wagner posed an rifle shot in the Blue Grass. She'll probably ring up some high ones at the international and national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, in September.

Specific attention is called in the protest to the playing of certain named players, which Manager Leach's petition to the League's executive committee charges were "played before formally becoming employees of the Gulf company."

The protest is the third to have been filed since the League opened in April. Two of the protests have been settled by the Gulf, having been withdrawn, while the League decided the other against the team protesting.

The protest filed by the City team yesterday, it is understood, will be settled at an early meeting of the League officials.

GIANTS MAKE SURE OF RAG

Lead Increased by Recent Wins

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Helped by the lowly and sometimes helpless Phils, the New York Giants increased their lead to four games in the National League pennant race.

While the Phils were taking a double header and winning their first game of the season from the Cincinnati Reds, the Giants took another one from the Pirates and the Reds responded back to their place.

Even if the Giants and increase their lead by another victory, the odds of their accomplishing what was promised to Manager McGraw as he led to one two of his best pitchers to win and it became apparent that the leading staff of the champions is yet in a very fragile condition.

The Yankees open a series today with the second place Cleveland Indians and it would be a "crucial" series if the Yanks did not have a lead of over a dozen games.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

It did seem too bad that everybody in Rainbow Land was so changed. The Twins no longer spoke in poetry. The Dummies had discovered how dumb they were and were quite unhappy about it. The Larsons just hated their big ears and refused to sing themselves to sleep. The sneezes no longer took stuff to make themselves silly, but they cried anyway just because. The Twosomes were so ashamed of their big feet, they hid their heads inside of their collars and wouldn't look at anything or anybody. The Puffies no longer blew their way in that big chustledown. Their days of traveling were over. All because Cross Patch had waved his bad old magic stick. My! My! My! This is dreadful! cried Nancy. Mister Sky Bow will you please tell us where Old Cross Patch lives? We'll have to catch him and take his stick away from him it once. "Let's see. I used to know," said Mister Sky Bow, scratching his head. "Oh yes, he lives on the other side of the Rainbow Door in Wet Blank Town. It's dreadfully hard to find. Besides, all that Old Cross Patch has got is a stick and if he knows coming he'll wave his stick at us and turn us all into worms." "I'm not afraid," said Nancy. "Neither am I," declared Nick. "An I think we'd better do something to help these nice little folk in Rainbow Land out of their trouble." "About face," Murch said. Mister Sky Bow. And away they went. Roads of Peninsula Among Finest Due To 'Copper Plating'

ONTONAGON, Mich., Aug. 1.—Of course there is a catch in it some where but as a matter of fact, there is many a state highway in upper Michigan that is paved with copper. The copper is the discarded copper ore that the big mines in the Houghton-Calumet district have sent down to be regular gold mine and are now reclaiming. Hundreds of thousands of tons of this ore is of the state highways in the northeastern part of the peninsula. The copper of northern Michigan the highest grade metal in the world, is found in solid rock and mined from deep underground shafts. To get the copper these shafts of rock are run through great stamp mills that crush it to what is called "stamp sand." The tailings from these stamp mills was a nuisance. Thousands of tons were given to the highway department as gravel. The "stamp sand" makes wonderful roads after it has been worked into the natural soil of the roads for it rolls out smoothly. And now comes the discovery that this "stamp sand" can be treated cheaply with chemicals and made to produce a second crop of high grade ore. The Houghton-Calumet mines are dredging the bottom of Lake Superior to salvage some of it, thrown there to get it out of the way. But much of it is lost forever, for the ore is "copper plating" the highways.

Insulin Substitute, Cheaper, Discovered

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The discovery of glucokamit, a plant extract similar to insulin and much cheaper to manufacture, was announced Saturday in a statement from the American Chemical Society. Its merits are all that its discoverer, Dr. J. B. Collip of the University of Alberta, Canada, has reason to believe they are. The new substance may mark another victory in the fight against diabetes, aside from establishing a cheaper treatment which will reach many a sufferer not able to pay for the insulin treatment. The new discovery is described as a substance derived from plants and appearing to have the properties of insulin. Dr. Collip is said to have succeeded in drawing the preparation from the leaves of lettuce, beans and wheat. He has tried the extract on animals with marked success, but not experimented as yet on the human body. Dr. Collip derived his discovery from the fact that since insulin enables the body to burn sugar and store up the substance known as glycogen, those plants and lower animals which contain glycogen might also contain the principle of insulin. Glycogen is animal starch and is abundant in clams, oysters, yeast and mushrooms.

REVIVE HORSE RACING AT DALLAS STATE FAIR

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 1.—Revival of horse racing at the Texas state fair meets with the approval of the American Remount association, according to a letter from the head of the organization, R. H. Williams, Jr., in which he points out the importance of horse racing and its bearing on the nation's economic problems. The association favors racing when so conducted that part of the profits derived therefrom accrue to the benefit of breeders of the state. Williams wrote: "Hence, by the process of elimination establishes the best possible strain of blood for siring riding horses, suitable for general use and for the arms. Williams' letter states."

BOOZE POURED IN SEWER SMELLED GOOD

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Aug. 1.—While a crowd of dry mouthed spectators looked on, county officials poured into the sewer about 45 gallons of whiskey, which according to experienced "smellers" was "fairly good stuff." A lighted match was dropped into a stream of the liquid setting fire to the whole mass. A few minutes later, a match was thrown into an empty whiskey barrel and a loud explosion resulted. Aside from these two incidents, the destruction of the booze went off quietly except for the involuntary murmurs of protest from bystanders.

ELECTRIC SYSTEM TO CURTAIL TRAFFIC

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 1.—Installation of an electric traffic control system in the business section here may get under way soon according to an announcement by John Alderman, fire and police commissioner. Estimates are now being prepared for the cost of installation and plans and blue prints for the new system are being drawn up.

TEXAS GRAPE CENTER

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 1.—This section may become a center for raising grapes on a large scale for commercial purposes as the result of the recent inspection of the vineyards adjacent to this city by M. B. Oats, agricultural agent for the Fort Worth and Denver railway. Oats found a number of variety of grapes making good yields in this section.
